J. DEMSKY (1979)

ELX/SPAIN

38°10'16.0"N 0°42'28.9"W

Demsky started his creative journey by getting abducted by the sense of freedom and wildness of the 90s graffiti movement. Since then, he has been pushing the boundaries of graffiti and still today feels obsessed with twisting the morphology of his name in multiple, unconventional shapes.

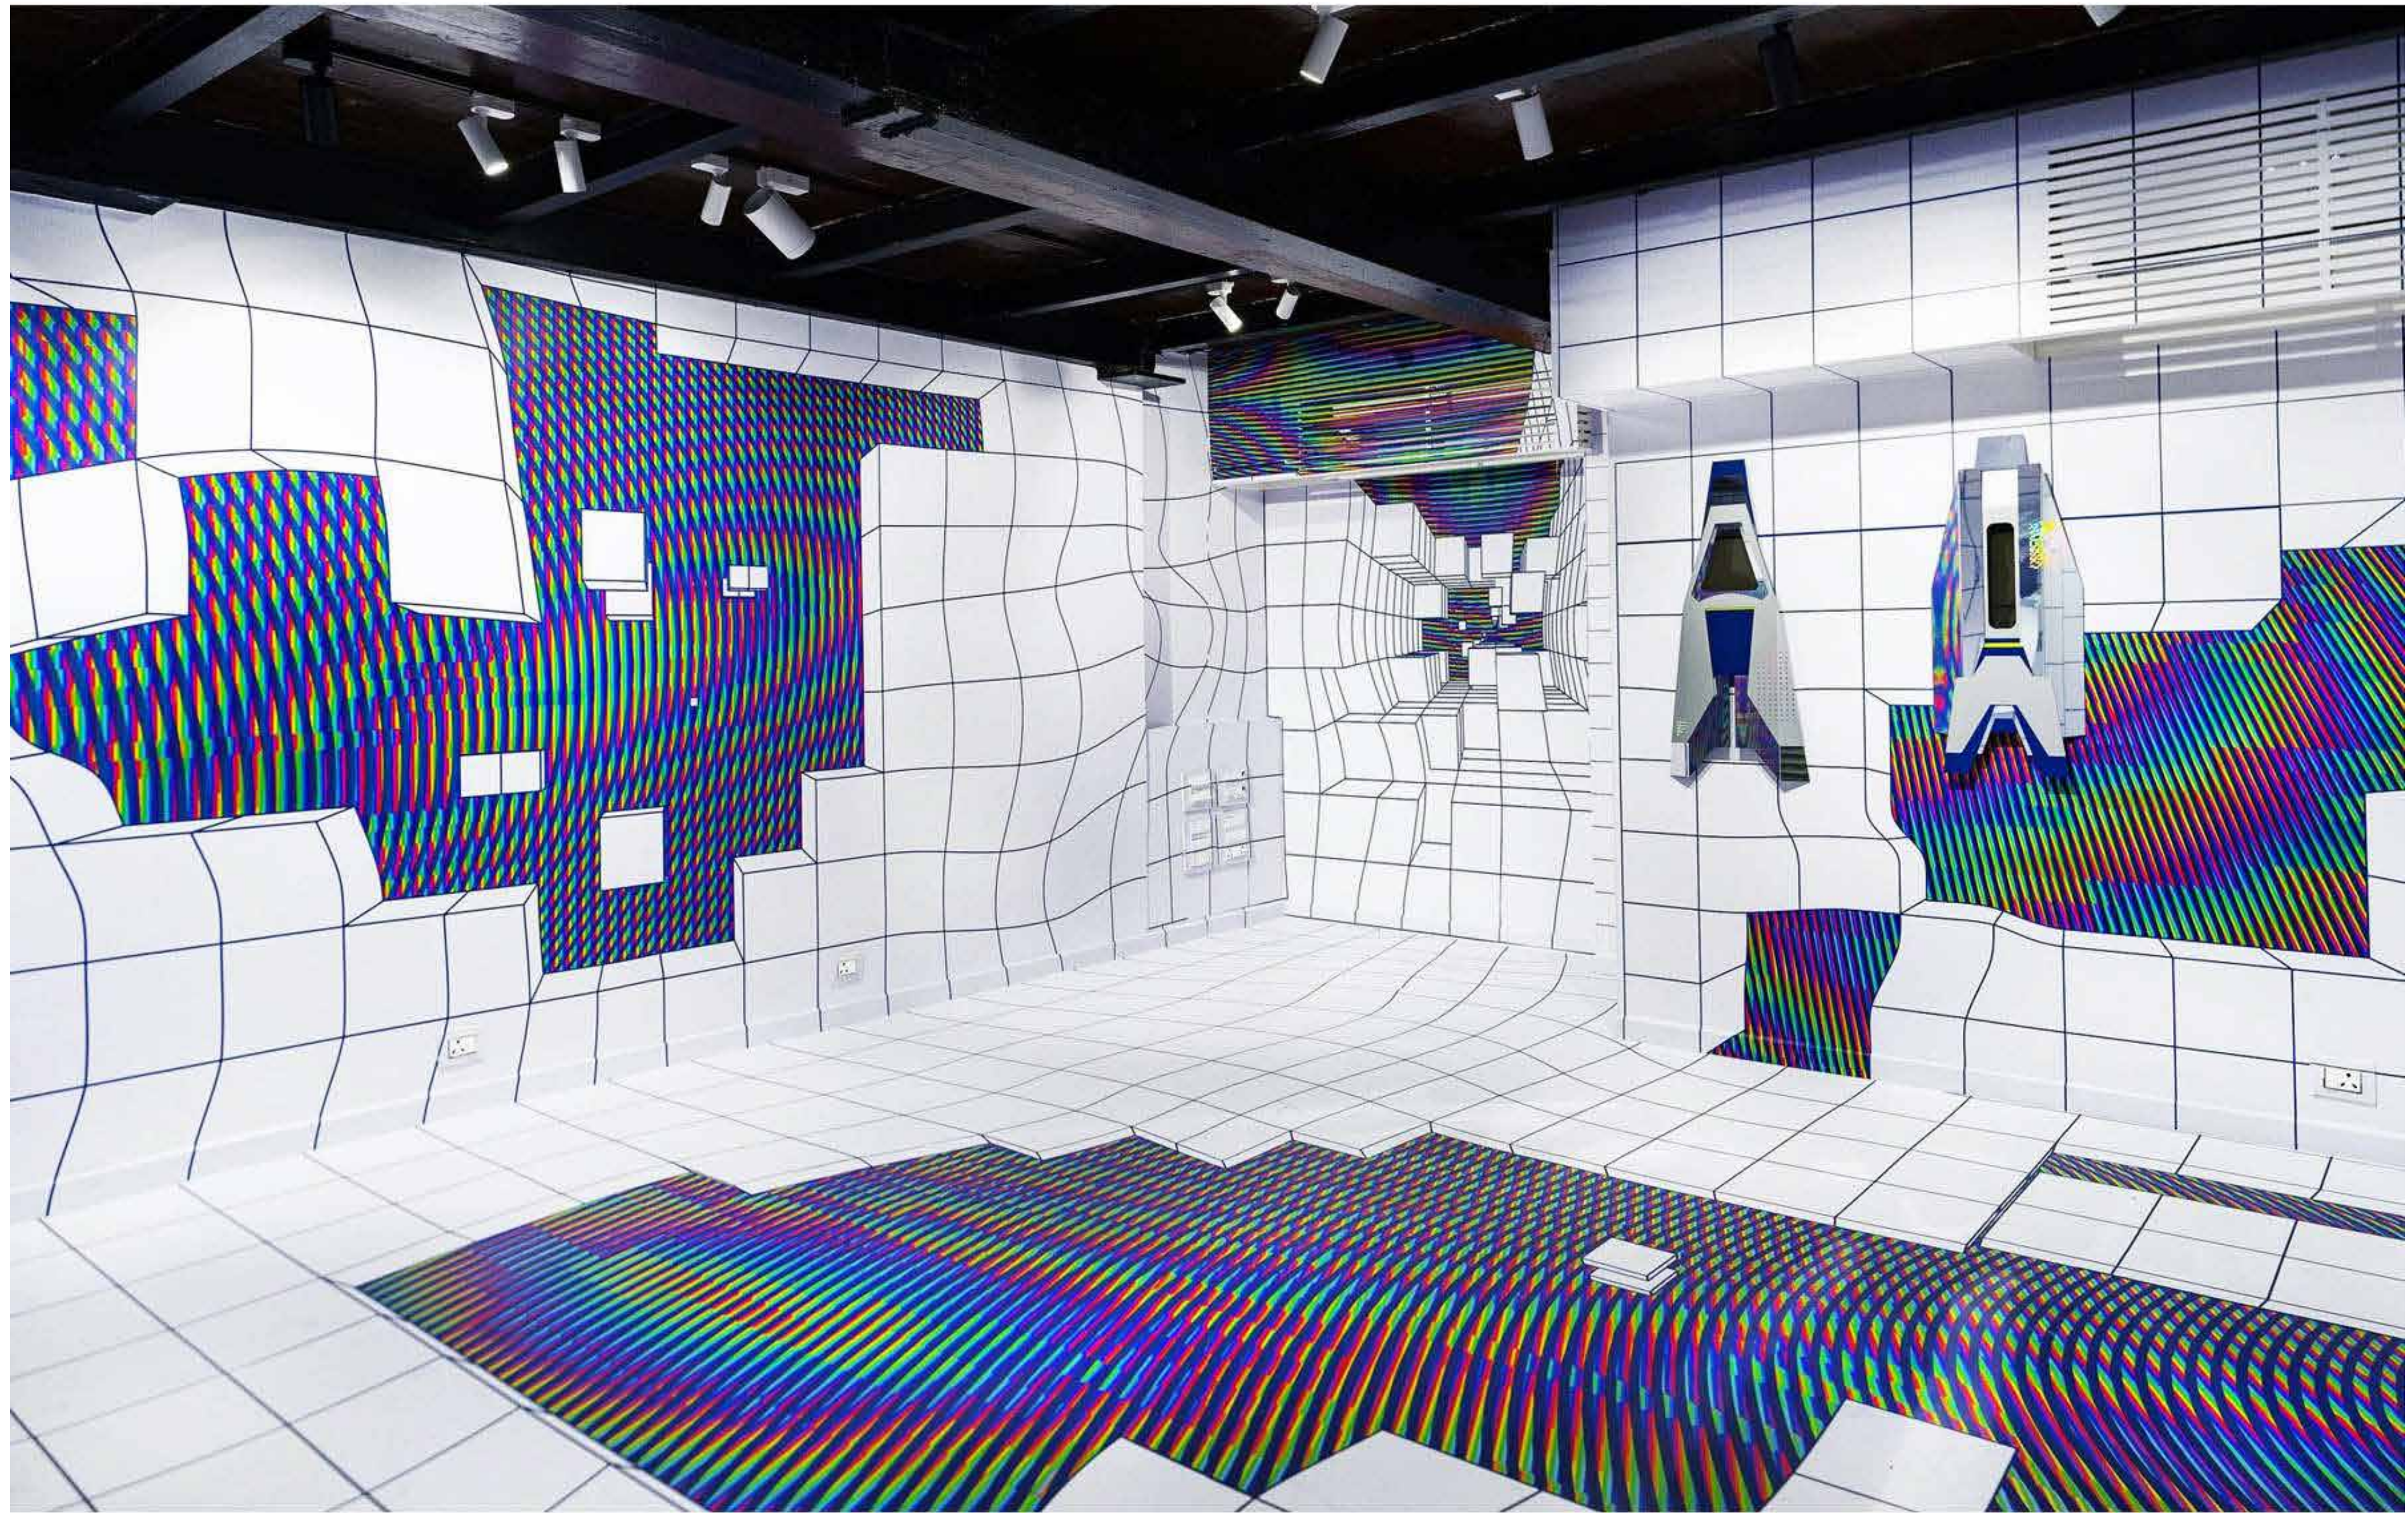

Around 2010, he felt eager to expand his artform to other circuits and media by developing new, unconventional concepts inspired by the space-time continuum and diagrams, making the observer visualize and understand relativistic effects, such as how different observers perceive where and when interpretation, emotion and events occur. It is a travel to places where we have already been to but do not remember.

On a more intimate level, Demsky understands art as a vehicle to stimulate the audience's senses and heal the artist's soul by creating unconventional ways of human connection. He has collaborated with renowned artists, designers, commercial brands and contemporary art galleries worldwide.

Currently he spends most of his time at his self-designed studio, surrounded by organic nature, embracing his ever-evolving world of art.

PHASE

Space Navigator

PHASE S-N captures the sparkles of solar light to hijack the reflection and energy of the environment.

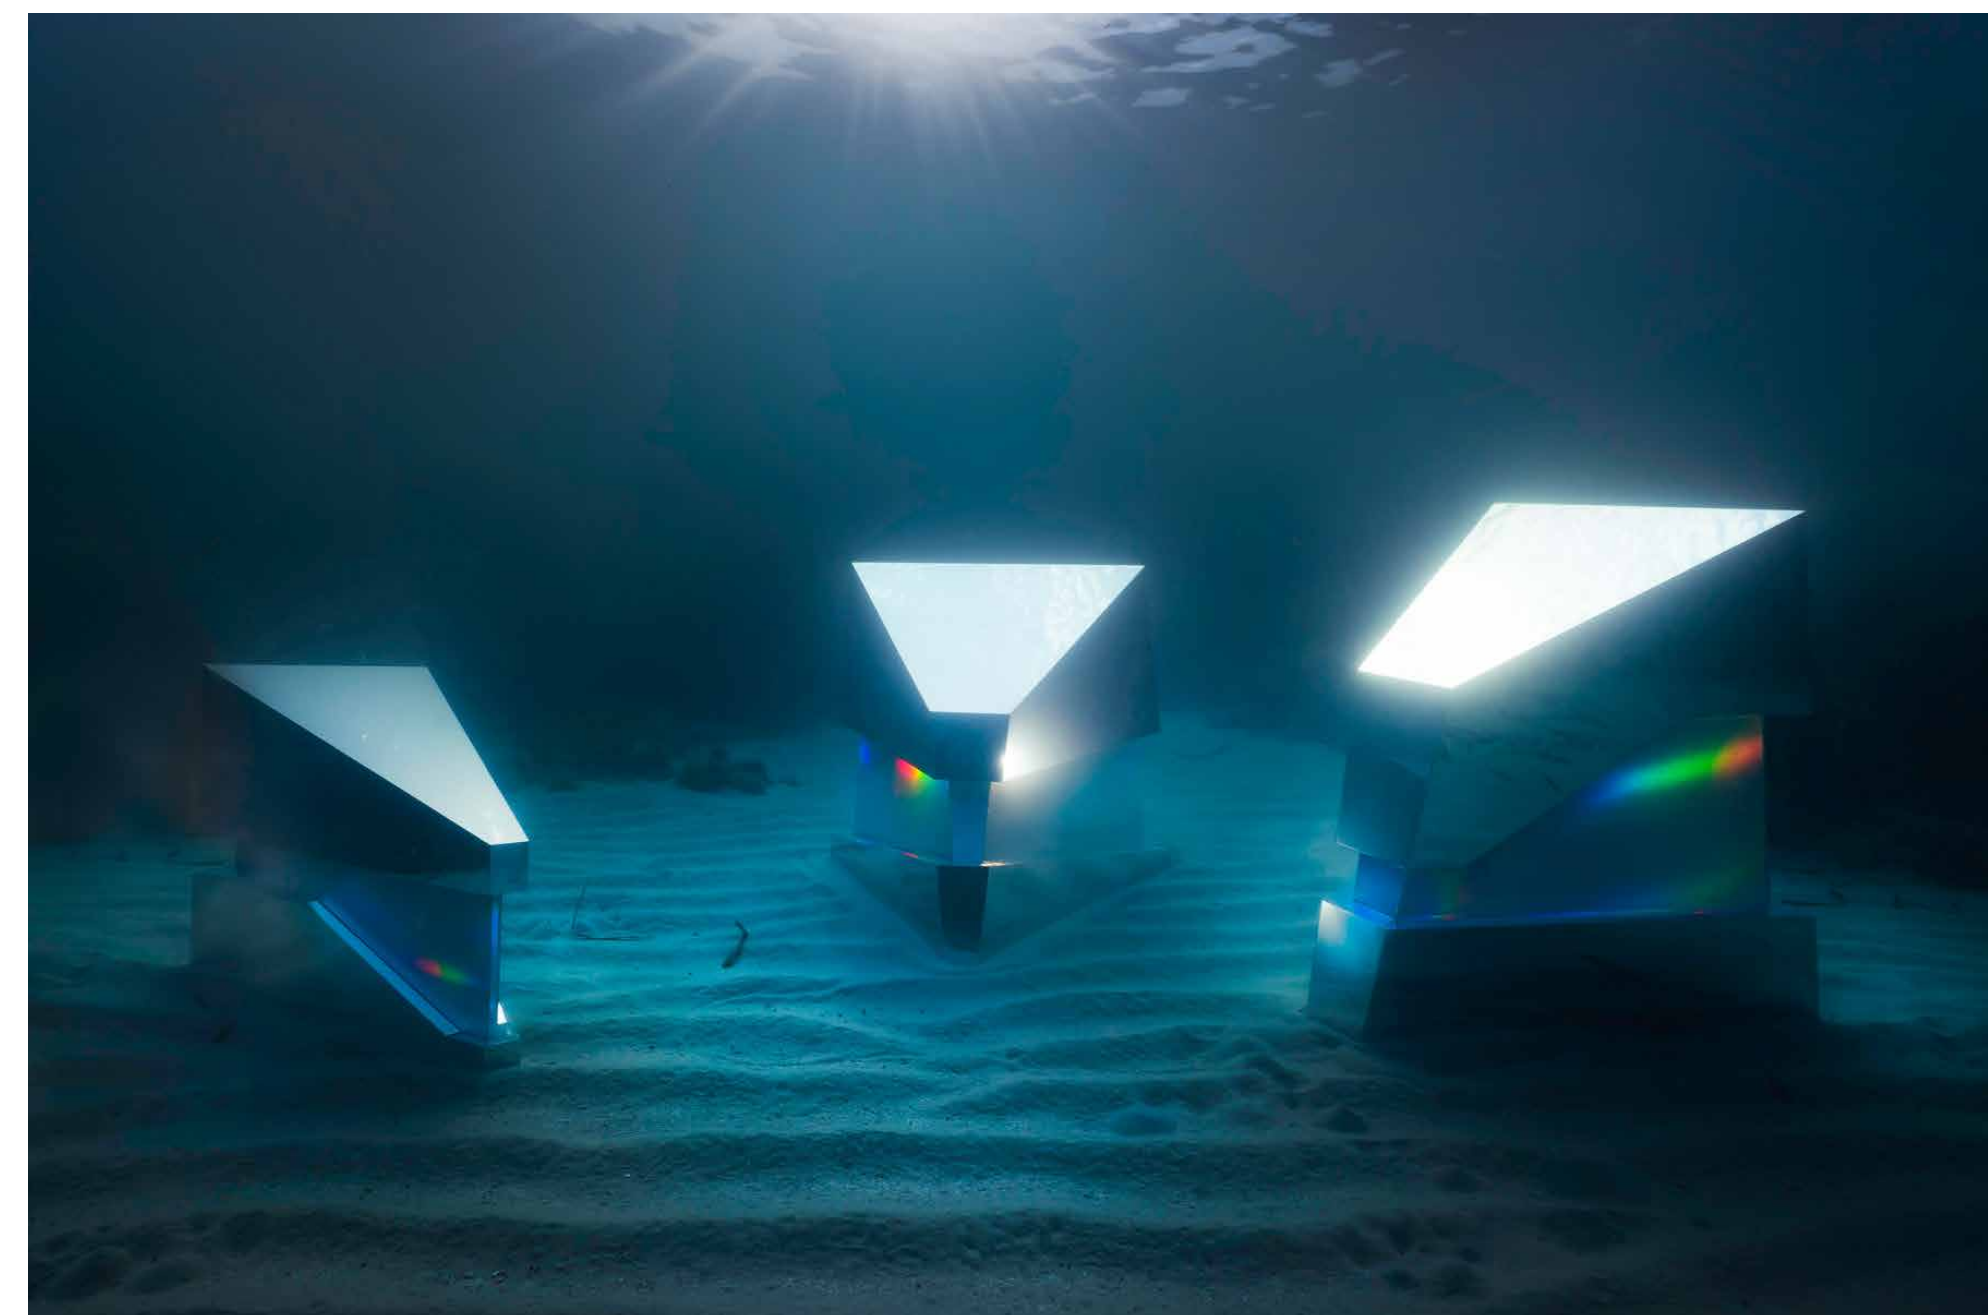

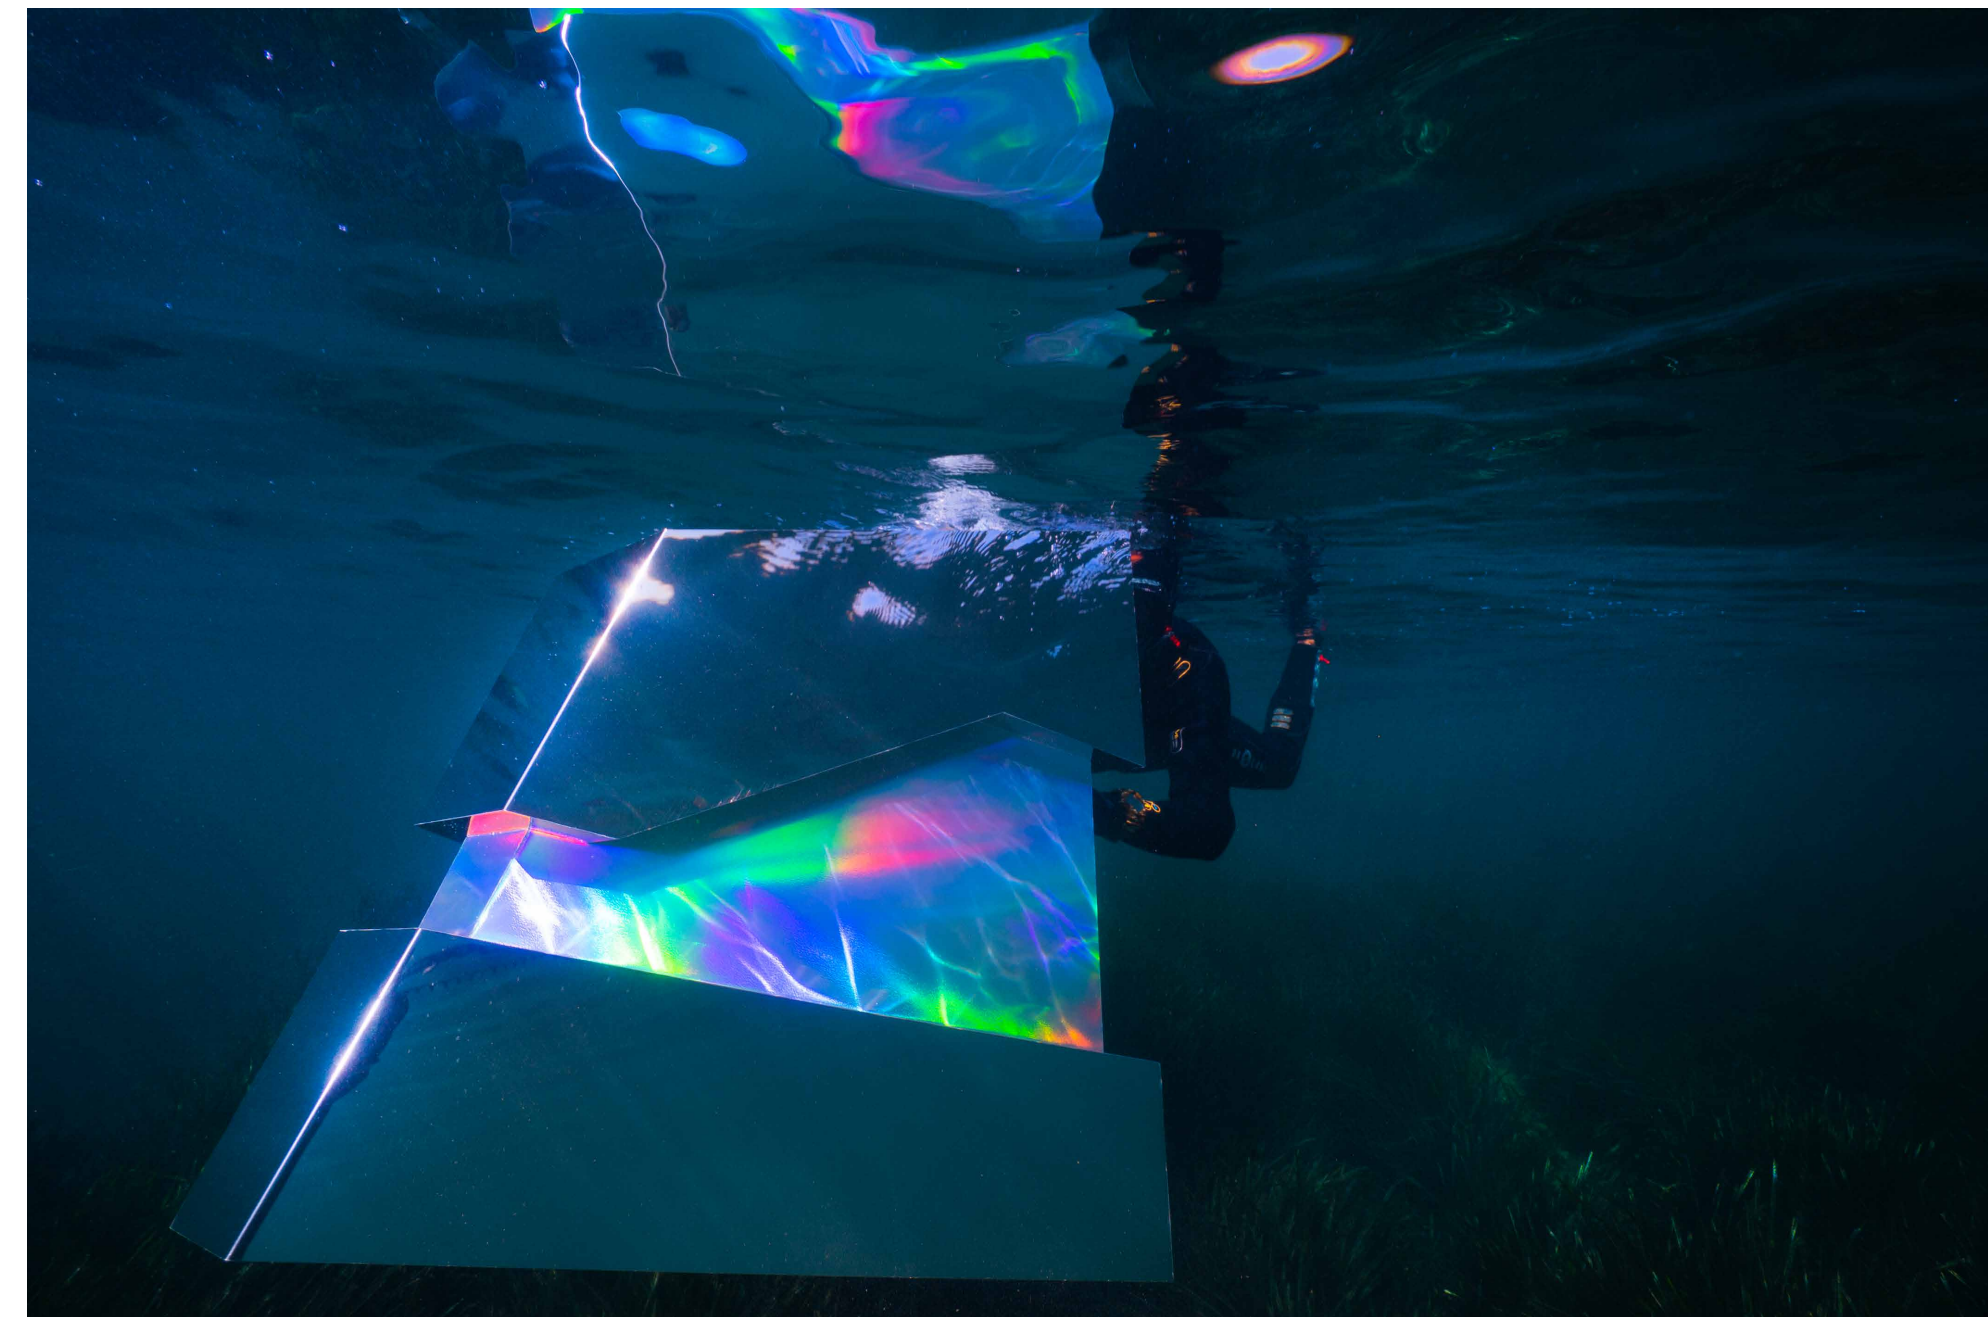

“Odisea (Odyssey) is a long journey that began in my head some months back. An artistic project that exhibits the immensity of the ocean and it looks to create a bond between the physical and the mental experience.

A sculptural combination that, from its formality, pretends to blur the limits from reality, escaping from the preconceived, dematerializing matter through light, reflection and water.

This is the first exhibition-experience of these sculptures, within specific coordinates that create a new space-time concept. A journey of outer and inner transformation.”
